Installation Tips

Must be installed on a solid, flat surface

Start laying the tiles on the perimeter of the space and work your way inwards

Continue laying the tiles by snapping them together using the connectors at the edges of the tiles

You can choose to install in a parquet pattern or parallel pattern

Fastening the tiles to the structure below is not necessary. You can fasten the tiles to the surface below if you choose by moving one of the slats to the side, drilling through the screw hole in the backing of the tile and sliding the slat back into place

Use a chisel to remove any exposed connectors around the finished edge.

Ultra Low Maintenance Tips

GLI Deck Tiles are virtually maintenance free. You can use your regular household broom to sweep away any dust or dirt on the surface.

For built up messes, using a mop, cleaning with a solution of mild dish soap and water then a quick rinse with the garden hose will bring the tiles back to their original condition.

For small surface scratches you can minimize the look of them by rubbing the affected area with a piece of fine steel wool along the grain, then taking a cloth with a bit of WD-40 to wipe away.

Use caution when using sunscreen, bug spray and other petroleum based products around the tiles. Direct contact with these substances may tarnish the finish of the tiles.

To keep your EON tiles looking new, avoid the use of rubber backed mats and use natural fiber mats instead.
